

Workers Compensation Injury and Illness Care

When an employer does not have a pre-arranged relationship with a medical services provider, injured workers may opt to see their own doctor — and the employer loses all control over the ensuing diagnostic testing, treatment, rehabilitation, return-to-work and billing procedures.

St. Luke's Occumed Resources' clients receive immediate treatment and follow-up care, in compliance with pre-established quality and cost control standards.

Our workers compensation case management resources create a closed loop of control for employers — from onset of injury or illness to discharge.

Program features include:

- Prompt delivery of appropriate injury/illness treatment
- A medical network of occupational health-minded professionals; development of workers compensation provider panel; medical evaluations and second opinions
- A dedicated nurse Case Manager
- Coordination of rehabilitation, transitional work assignments and/or work site modifications
- Ongoing communication between injured employee, employer, insurer and health care professionals to facilitate expeditious return-to-work
- Computerized tracking to ensure appropriateness of care and patient compliance
- Computerized trending and accident analysis to facilitate development of injury prevention and safety programs